PRINCIPAL

Dear Parents/Carers,

Thankfully the weather was on our side today; every class completed the obstacle course this morning and we had a brilliant time litter picking this afternoon — thank you to everyone that was able to come and help.

Keep an eye on our social media for pictures!

I thought that you may find this interesting regarding interactive gaming to help keep young people safe online:

- Researchers and computer scientists at Bournemouth University have developed an online game called CyGamBit to teach children how to keep safe online.
- Topics addressed within the game include cyber bullying, data theft, trolling, who we are online and health and wellbeing.
- The game is played in groups of up to six and could be played in schools and other educational or social settings.

- The leader of the project, Jane Henriksen-Bulmer has said that the game has been “designed for children aged between 8 and 12” to address the gaps in conversation between parents and children.
- For more information, please visit <https://www.bournemouth.ac.uk/news/2023-03-13/interactive-gaming-help-keep-young-people-safe-online> which is Bournemouth University’s website.
